

engines and PR agencies. The amount of revenue you will earn largely depend upon the effort you put in.

It is advisable to monetize after few months of blogging because Google AdSense (http://digit.in/goo\_adsense) product team will only approve a blog which has plenty of original articles. The approval process takes time and you will have to verify your address by providing the relevant PIN number supplied by Google.

Earn handsome revenue with Google adsense

With AdSense, you can insert ads of various size and formats. This includes a large leaderboard, small squares, rectangles, link and image ads. You will earn if people click on the links. The drawback with Google AdSense is that you will get paid only upon reaching $100. If you don't have a large fan base on social media, you will struggle to earn. When you start a blog, you should also create a Facebook group or page related to the niche subject and invite people to join. Your group will grow slowly and will get plenty of members by sharing content and tips. Moreover, you should also create a Twitter account and should try to expand the followers. If you post quality tweets and share unique content, people will automatically follow your handle. The presence of social signals is vital not only to expand your audience but also to increase revenues.

Alternatives to Google AdSense

Even though Google AdSense is a premium monetization platform for blogs,