

Blockchain application in governments

A Government, being the biggest and most influential service provider, can use the blockchain technology in a plethora of ways ushering in a new era of transparent and trusted governance