

Goods and Services Tax (GST)

The Government of India rolled out the Goods and Services (GST) tax on July 1, 2017. With the implementation of the GST, the sales, value-added taxes have become non-existent. Moreover, you can easily sell products to any location without any additional burden on customers such as octroi and entry taxes. You should obtain a GSTIN (GST Identification) number from <http://dgit.in/gst> before initiating the process for filing the application. The website provides all the required information including latest news, updates, events including important deadline dates. Moreover, you can locate a registered GST Practitioner, where you can avail all the services for a nominal fee. The website also provides answers to commonly asked queries, which will be useful if you have any doubts. The site also provides requirements about the newly introduced e-Way Bill System. It is also possible to search using an existing GSTIN number.

As part of the GST filing process, you need to submit relevant form from the list comprising of GSTR-1, GSTR-1A, GSTR-2, GSTR-2A, GSTR-3B, GSTR-5, GSTR-5A, GSTR-6, GSTR-6A. Even though plenty of forms exist, you only need to submit select forms depending upon your business. If your aggregate turnover is up to ₹1.50 crores, you need to file quarterly returns. The returns should be filed monthly if your aggregate turnover is more than ₹1.50 crores. The GST registration is a complicated process with plenty of financial jargon. We would suggest you to approach a registered GST consultant and have a detailed discussion about your online business. They will have trained staff who will get things done easily.

The main purpose for the requirement of the GSTIN number for e-commerce businesses is to avoid loss of business in tax credits. After obtaining the GST ID, you need to mention the number on the invoice issued to customers. Your buyers will be able to search on the website with your GSTIN number to ensure that the ID is really yours. This also comes in handy since a lot of customers only go for vendors who have registered for GST.

Your ultimate destination to the world of GST