

Symbols are a special type of asset. You can use them multiple times in a file by simply dragging it from the Asset panel and releasing it on the main area (pasteboard or artboard). If you make changes to one, all instances get updated. Even the symbol in the asset panel gets updated. You can create a symbol, add it in the Asset panel, reuse it and create another symbol from it. Double-click a symbol to enter into symbol editing mode. In this mode, the symbol is displayed with a thicker border. You can make changes to style, size, shadow, and/or position and see these changes reflect in all linked instances. If your symbol is a group of objects, then in symbol editing mode, you can edit every object in the group. To make style changes to a
