

One ROM masala coming up

Adding some more cool features to your ROM and changing its look

Build.prop

The build.prop can also be directly edited by using Notepad++. Let's understand a few sections of the file and how to edit them.

Go to line ro.build.display.id and you will find a string of alpha-numeric characters after the =. You can change this string to anything of your choice and that will be the name of the ROM you are building.

You can also set the default tones for ringtone, notification and alarm