

the same, the performance varies because of the differences introduced by the individual brands. The radiators, the fans, the complexity of the CPU block and a many other parameters can be varied to produce different SKUs. So your best bet while getting a new cooler is to check out a couple of reviews and then decide. d