

Setting up the Play Area

Once you have adjusted the basic settings for the game, it's time to set up the play area

The play area refers to the locked area of the game within which all the elements will be confined. So this includes the locking the plane, confining player movements within the area etc. So let's start by locking in the area or defining the play area.

Creating the walls with GameObjects

By now you have a ground, with a material on it that distinguishes it clearly from the ball. The ground serves as the play area, which we will
