

a way to increase traffic and sell more products, this is a compulsory step for most flash sales.

Decide your configuration

Go online, search, compare and decide your phone's configuration well in advance. Losing time over decision-making is a big no-no when buying in a flash sale. Decide the colour, RAM and storage variant you want at least a day before the flash sale so that when it is time to make the crucial click, you are ready and focused.

Pre-fill all possible details

Create your account (if you lived under a rock all this while and missed the trend), fill in correctly all your delivery details including address, landmark and phone numbers, complete payment details and if possible verify them using any possible methods. If possible, set default delivery address and payment methods as well. This drastically reduces the checkout time from the first click on 'Buy Now' to the last click on 'Finish Payment'.

Make sure you have a stable internet connection

In the era of Jio, this shouldn't be a problem. But in India, the network is notorious for leaving you when it matters the most. Make sure you have an awesome internet connection when the time comes. Having a high-speed internet connection helps to reduce the time taken to make the order. Instead of staring at a page with a dizzying circle rotating, you could have your next cup of tea content that your product is on its way to you.

Watch the countdown

Keep an eye on the countdown timer that counts down the time left to the flash sale. Make sure you are aware of when to schedule your break from the office or get up in the middle of the night to make few crucial clicks. The countdown is a great tool to be aware of the developments being made prior to the sale.

Login early

The instruction on most flash sale platforms is to log in at least 30 minutes before the sale. Even if this is advisable, it is not a compulsory act. Being online just 10 minutes before the sale should give you ample time to prepare for the sale. Log in, verify you have all your details filled in and wait to strike