

The press sections of the web sites

This is a section of the shopping portals reserved for dissemination of information to the journalists and reporters who write stories about the various offers. Going to this section as a consumer, allows you to take a first hand look at the deals and offers that the site is actively seeking to promote. The deals listed in the press releases are the ones that the portal has worked on, behind the scenes with the companies making the products, to offer the best possible prices to the consumers. While these deals may also be shown prominently on the front page of the portals, it might be difficult to pick them out among all the clutter with the flash sales and offers based on your previous purchases. It is a good idea to scan this section to check if there are any offers relevant to you. The Amazon press section is at digit.in/apress, the Flipkart press section is at digit.in/fpress, and the Snapdeal press section can be found at digit.in/spress.
