

Project - Image Processing

Time to saddle up and get started on the next step in creating your object detection program using good old TensorFlow and its power-packed libraries. Keep a firm note on the steps and understand what the objective and input you have at hand.