

Why you must get it:

SeaMonkey offers a fully-featured email program with good IMAP support, flexible filters, strong HTML support, powerful searching, labels, and tags for organising and prioritising mails and many other features. It is a comfortable email experience even after turning off JavaScript. The address book in the software supports vCards and Palm synchronisation, which is very helpful in restoring contacts. The effective Bayesian spam filtering technique sends all the junk to a separate folder. The message views, advanced search and search toolbar helps in finding emails easily. It is a complete suite and suitable for people who hate to hoard multiple applications. d
