

audiences dominate the Snapchat demographic and, as a result, the entertainment industry, as well as the independent content-creation industry, is gaining a mileage through this platform.

TikTok

This casual platform, predominantly used for entertainment options and frequented by the indigenous audience, is similar to Snapchat as it uses limited-duration videos to develop interaction and build collaborative engagement with the audience. It is used by young adults and is fast emerging as a platform for content creators and artists.

This is how one should narrow down their choices to select the perfect and most compatible social media platform for their online businesses and thus focus their efforts and get the best returns for their investments. d