

effectively. With this, you can easily, add or remove audience, even edit them. These are the people who your commercials will target to influence. This section helps you build your audience page.

1. Step 1: It is important to create your own audience page, based on your preferences. Before that, choose the type of TA that wish to make. It can be anything starting from a list, or an application for mobile phones.
2. Step 2: Once you are done with that, you will be redirected to the page that will help you create your audience. You will have to name your Tailored Audience next and provide all the required information for the same. The requirements for each type of TA will be mentioned in the previous page that you created. Use that information to build a better Tailored Audience system.
3. Step 3: Once you have set up your Tailored Audience list, the Twitter algorithm will bring you the handles of the people you should target. This process takes around two days or approximately forty eight hours to launch. If your TA shows 'too small' then add more audience information on the Tailored Audience page and proceed. If, on the other hand, it shows 'Ready', you are ready to proceed.
4. Step 4: The Audience Manager will help you edit, delete or add to your Tailored Audience option. These are the people who will be targeted in campaigns. Manage them using this option.

The Audience Manager will come back to you with the right hashtags to use

Twitter Ads

Twitter has an extensive relationship with its users and partners. Marketing strategists put this information to use as they proceed with their advertisements. Twitter saves the information of the users and shares it with the companies that are looking to pay for it. Hence, if you are simply using Twitter for fun, and come across brands you like or you are checking
