

You can never get bored when you are watching YouTube videos on YouTube, you can travel the whole world now. YouTube gives the scope to know about foreign places in the words of the people living over there. Finding the traveling itinerary of different places, looking for some delectable recipes, or taking a quick tour of some educational videos; you will find it all here on YouTube.

YouTube has made its way up

YouTube is one of the most prominent applications that have grown on to become a lucrative ground for business to publish videos. While there are many other video-publishing sites, including Dailymotion, Vevo, Vimeo, Metacafe, etc., YouTube has continued through the years to remain on top of the game. So what are the reasons that have made YouTube a prominent pick for the audience?

We have decided to run a quick look through the different factors that make this video-publishing application most sought-after. Here are the top 5 reasons—

Customer-friendly interface

While many of the other video websites are channel-based, with YouTube it is quite easy to create an account. The process is not that complicated and all you require is an Gmail account to create an account here.