

to understand how the company is doing. This way, you can get massive visibility and expect follow-ups through the links and opportunities you have provided. However, generating qualified leads and sales through LinkedIn is a long-term process. It may take months or years to get the expected results. But the rapport, public relations, and the bonds you can build through LinkedIn that definite prove value worthy and helps to generate conversions above your expectations. d