

4. Significant updates and unique content – Snapchat shows the users things that no other platform can. Be it a new product or a service you're about to introduce, you can make your audience aware of how your product will be beneficial to them.

5. Share coupons and bring in more contests – What engages a young audience is the idea of participating in a contest and winning items or products. You can use Snapchat to create a giveaway contest or coupons so that the audience will be attracted towards it, and that will definitely benefit you in ways you can't imagine. For instance, ask your audience to share information about your product, snap it and share it within your friend circle. The best one will win a gift card.

How to begin on Snapchat?

All you need to do is to sign up with your name, email-address and date of birth. You can easily add friends by uploading your contacts or by directly searching for the people you know. Along with that, adding someone by taking a picture of their snapcode, a special QR code unique to each user, is another way you can get connected to them. On Snapchat it is usually photos, not texts, that start communication. In order to start a conversation, you tap the big camera circle and take a snap. There will be all kinds of photo-editing tools as well as filters to beautify and customize your images. Having customised your snap, you can send it to anyone on your friend-list or add it to your story, the story being available to your viewers for the next twenty-four hours. Snapchat has the feature of group texting

Source: <https://pixabay.com/photos/snapchat-social-media-smartphone-2480959/>

Getting yourself a Snapchat account is incredibly easy