Ethics of the Platform

Every platform demands some ethics to be followed, WhatsApp is no different, and whether you are doing a personal chat or marketing, certain ethical standards are needed to be followed on social media platforms and WhatsApp is no different. Moreover, when involved in marketing and promotions via personal message carrying apps like WhatsApp, certain ethics go unsaid, let us look at some of them.

1. You should know what to say, when to say and how much to say: When dealing with customers in a personalized way as you do via WhatsApp Business, it is really important to know the unsaid limits like:-
  - The number of messages you can send without bothering the person
  - The tone which should be always polite yet strictly formal
  - The timing of the message should be optimal during the day
