

area for other remaining top contenders to compete against one another. At the end of every round, players are awarded in-game currency based on their game performance. You can use this money to buy enhancements for your avatar including customised clothes and weapons.

ZombsRoyale.io – 2D Battle Royale

ZombsRoyale.io also known as fortnite.io is a two-dimensional Battle Royale game developed and released by End Game. The game is based on the Battle Royale theme, 100 players are stranded on to a zone where they each battle it out till the last remaining one survives.

The players are depicted as circular figures. The field is within a circular blue zone referred to as the gas that keeps on shrinking as the game progresses.

The players initially are equipped with zero weapons

