

offers things that most others don't. The theme is all classic Japanese and follows the trend created by the other games in the Onmyoji series. The game is based on the Heian world and recreates Kyoto with perfection. The gameplay is smooth and has been tweaked to work well on mobile. For all the anime lovers, this game will be a treat.

The gameplay is balanced with each Shikigami (heroes) getting four abilities and two general spells, which are all similar in strength. An industry first, 3v3v3 battle has also been introduced by the developers, which is different from what we have come to expect from MOBAs.

The objective is the same as in other MOBA games; work with your team to destroy enemy towers and to win, the base. The 3v3v3 mode requires you to obtain 30 Shikigami wins. We found the game very engaging, and this makes it an easy recommendation.

Wild Clash: Online Battle

A game presented by Unic Games, Wild Clash: Online Battle is a not so unique offering and feels a lot like Brawl Stars from Supercell. So why are we pitching it as better than Brawl Stars? Well, Wild Clash: Online Battle borrows the essential elements from it and offers additional amenities to the users to make it more engaging.

The gameplay is nice and tacky, and you have heroes with different skill sets to boot. There are several game modes on offer; you can choose to play a 3v3 battle or fight with the bosses. There are several weapons, and the key to winning is the ability to master these weapons.
