

It's Full of Sparks

It's Full of Sparks is a simple, yet beautiful and wonderfully quirky game. You play as a firecracker!

Yes, you read that right. You are a firecracker and the game is about your journey through life. The game is bright, colorful and lively...just like a firecracker.

The art in this game is simply mind-blowing. And without spoiling too much for you, here's another awesome thing to look forward to: the sound of bursting firecrackers! It will have you jumping with joy, although the objective of the game is not to explode.

The game starts with you, the firecracker, with a lit fuse. And your time is running out. You have to reach the water and prevent yourself from exploding.

But to reach the water, you need to dodge the perils on your way. Thankfully, the controls are simple and smooth, and you will have a great time maneuvering through them.

Noodlecake Studios (with a name as quirky as the game they have developed) has taken a rather interesting approach to monetise the game.

The game allows you to play for free and without ads, but with limited lives. In case you run out of firecrackers, you can watch a video ad to earn 10 more firecrackers at any time. You also have the option to allow ads, in which case, you start with 50 firecrackers. To do away with ads