

the brakes. You can even adjust or alter the functional attributes of the accelerator so as to speed up the pace of the vehicle.

Lots of unwanted surprises greet you on the track as the vehicles storm through the public waterways traversing through the landscape of a modern city dribbling over the hurdles of static urban installations that come in its way. Racers have to come to terms with frequent encounters with the city police as they are out to stop you by creating sudden obstructions in your way. The element of the resistance from the police and your continuous endeavor to avoid being gagged by them instills the excitement of a perfect cat and mouse chase trail in the game.

F1 mobile racing

You don't have to travel to a formula one car racing circuit in person if you have the android version of F1 Mobile Racing at your fingertips. It can transform your mobile phone into a racing circuit quite capable of holding a formula one world championship with ease where you can compete with stars from the world of F1 racing champions across the world. You can rub shoulders with the likes of stalwarts like Lewis Hamilton, Sebastian Vettel and Max Verstappen. You also stand a fair chance to achieve a rare feat of defeating them in a virtual race in the midst of a make believe world. Everything that appears in the game looks amazingly real.

Once you subscribe to the game, you will be able to understand the magnitude of hard work which has gone into making the design layout of