

Getting started

With our guidelines in place, we are more than ready to get started with TikTok! Undoubtedly, it is a delightful app that actually gets you hooked to its carefully designed features. In order to start using the application, you will need to follow the given steps and in no time, you will be off to an amazing start!

1. Creating your user account on TikTok: With a current user base of one billion, TikTok has only become even more agile at welcoming new users. You will have to download the application first. It is available on Google Play Store for Android-based smartphones and on App Store For iOS. Once it has been installed, sign up and put in a great profile picture, preferably one that represents your personality accurately. Your profile picture sets the first impression that people will have about you. It is often seen that if you can ace that, you have won half your war right there. Besides a great profile picture, you will need to enter all other information correctly. Make sure your age is above the minimum age required and the information provided by you is not false or misleading.

2. Exploring TikTok: Once you are done with the creation of your account, you will definitely want to navigate through it first. Get a hang of how people actually use it. This will help you gather some intelligence about