

Gear up for brands on TikTok

TikTok has become very popular, and brands are targeting TikTok to run campaigns centred around kids. Some famous brand names include- Coca Cola, Nike, ABC, and Google. So, it has been estimated that TikTok and Gen Z users would be seen drinking a lot of Coca Cola, eating a specific food product, and wearing a particular brand of shoes, and of course, Google can't be left out. It seems almost certain that Gen Z would also be using Google Chrome as their go-to browser.

Gear up for the new generation

TikTok can make your day, teens and adults alike are enjoying short-form videos, sharing it on WhatsApp, Instagram, Facebook, etc. As a social media platform it is bridging the gap between different generations. The exciting factor is that you can create Emojis on TikTok. When using the Emoji option, you can personalise the Emoji, and the Emoji would transform your photos by giving you a fake animated hairstyle, hair colour, and accessories thus making you look like an Emoji. This technical accessorising is an excellent way for Gen Z to play the next-gen version of dress-up.

TikTok is the greatest app of all time

Finally, if you are gearing up to use TikTok as a beginner, then you are not alone if you do not initially understand how to use TikTok. This is a classic case of children knowing more than adults about how to use an app. You can watch videos here without logging in, but to make videos of your own, you will need to sign up and log in. Once you have logged in,
