

the most viewed as well as the most relevant hashtags, then it becomes easier to find your content, and its visibility increases.

Therefore, by keeping all of these aspects in mind, perfect content for TikTok can be created. However, just to give the readers a sense of all the exciting content out there on the platform coming from various users, the next section will deal with some very popular examples from the past which took the social media space by a storm.

Participating in Challenges

This is perhaps the easiest way to go viral on any social media platform today. The TikTok community often organises or allows organisations to orchestrate challenges related to certain tasks that the users need to perform on camera and post. These include varied content on innumerable subjects of either concern or entertainment and allow a lot of scope for quick popularity on the platform.

These challenges are facilitated through trending hashtags like the one promoted by ABC- #LikeAnAmericanIdol or Google's #HeyGoogleHelp challenge.

The Next Generation of Celebrities

The users of TikTok who have reached celebrity status come from various backgrounds. They produce content covering various spheres like education, health, entertainment, sports, and technology to name a few.

Commenting on this, Sachin Sharma, the director of sales and partnerships, at TikTok, India said that the application started with the purpose of entertainment but it has diversified beyond that. More than 60% of the
