

This new format hosts a touch of communal sharing through friends networks like any other social media, while also being capable of producing discursive content which can contribute to the wellbeing of people as well as entertainment, commerce, and leisure.

Both, the content producers as well as the followers have a wide range of choices, and scope of engaging with huge sections of people without bombarding them with long-drawn pieces. They can do so with short and crisp videos designed creatively. d