

shoes of your target audiences. The question is, ‘does this video trigger an emotional appeal?’. For that, you certainly need to know the following parameters to help you decode the answer.

- The video is created around a compelling storytelling idea.
- It puts forward a distinctive perspective.
- The video does not lag in challenging assumptions.

Keep in mind the mentioned parameters to extract the desired results.

Integrate an eye-catching video title

You are all set to release your TikTok video believing that all the ingredients are at the right place but if you fail to extend an intriguing video title experience, chances are high that your efforts may turn futile. Thinking from the audience perspective is extremely crucial before creating your video title. This is where the role of relevancy comes in picture. The title must be eye-catching and relevant, both to grab the attention of even a random viewer. Thus, it becomes imperative to ask yourself the following questions before generating a title:-

- Is the title comprehensible even for a random viewer?
- Does the title sound relatable to the target audiences including the random viewers?
- Is the title competent in evoking an emotional appeal?

Add an interesting thumbnail image

Now comes ‘The Thumbnail Image’ that is as equally important as the title. Here, you must ensure that the thumbnail image is mobile friendly as
