

app. The growth rate can be determined based on number of downloads since the launch date. Data suggests that TikTok has crossed over one billion downloads within a span of three years, which is one of the fastest growth rate for any app in today's times.

- Most Popular App on Apple Store – TikTok has been the most popular app on Apple App store as compared to Google Play store. This shows TikTok is more popular among iOS users than Android users.
- Trending among Teens – The video sharing feature has created an instant connect with the teenagers of today. The millennial age group between 16-24 yrs (Source: Globalwebindex, 2019) has been the most active participants which clearly indicate the target audience for the app. The older generation is also quite enjoying the app and trying to familiarise themselves with the features. Demographic data also suggests that Facebook somewhere lags in engaging the teenager group as compared to TikTok.

- Gender Mix – Surprisingly, TikTok is more popular among male than female users. Data suggests 55.6% users are male vis-à-vis 44.4% females (Source: App Ape Lab, 2018). This is quite different from other social media platforms where women are considered to be more active as compared to men.
