

directly share its revenues with users, there are other means which can help you earn. It was never built with a thought of monetising its services, but its nature makes it one of the most revenue-friendly platforms around. They have also started testing a new feature, Link in bio, which, like Instagram, will make it easier for creators to earn.

In this part, we will discuss ways to make money via TikTok. Remember that nothing comes easy, and you will have to work hard to be able to earn. No one can give you a secret recipe for getting fans overnight. It is just like any other social platform, and you need to use your skills, brain, and hard work to be able to reap benefits out of it.

Prerequisites to Earning Money on TikTok

Before rushing onto ways to earn money and trying to implement them, it is imperative that you know certain things beforehand. Here are some prerequisites to making money on TikTok –

Enhance your Bio

When someone doesn't know you personally, your bio is the one which helps in forming the initial impressions. If it doesn't feel welcoming, it will sway away people. Plus, it must communicate to the users what you do and what people can expect from you. So, how do we create a perfect bio? Begin by creating a useful and user-friendly profile name. It would be best if it com-

