

TikTok has a younger customer base than the other social media platforms. It could be a powerful marketing tool for your company if you can produce videos that resonate with audiences on TikTok. TikTok is known for its authenticity, where users show their real selves and do not waste time in enhancing themselves and their videos too much. Authenticity is an excellent strategy for advertising.

Still, if you want to create polished content, you can edit it easily with TikTok's advanced editing tools.

The application is required to comply with the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act or COPPA which specifies that web sites and applications are accepted by the users under 13.

Usually, the internet and social media companies tend to have an age limit of at least 13 years old in order to avoid parental liability. Many organisations such as Facebook have created alternative child-friendly applications to resolve a grievance, such as Messenger Kids. It seems that TikTok adopts the latter strategy, but chooses to keep the users in the main program.

Selecting the influencer for your brand

The following are the five important steps in choosing the right influencer for your brand-

1. Understand your customer's needs
2. Do research through organic search
3. Find relevant hashtags

