

3. Cross-platform usage:

This is probably one of the most useful features of Firefox. Unlike some of the other leading web browsers, Mozilla Firefox is available for all platforms and operating systems. It can be used efficiently and without any issues on Windows, Android and Mac. This versatility makes it very user-friendly, probably more so than any other browsers available in the market.

4. Open source:

One more great thing about Firefox is the fact that it is an open-source software. This means that you can download Firefox from the internet without having to pay a penny. Also, the code for Firefox is available for everyone to use. This is often taken up by various programmers who constantly make changes to the code, making it all the more efficient and robust. For most other web browsers, this is hardly the case. For most, in fact, like Google Chrome or Internet Explorer, only the designated programmers working with the respective companies are allowed to access the code blocks of the browsers.

5. Customisable pop up blocking options:

You must have come across all those annoying pop-ups while using other browsers. With Firefox, you can say goodbye to those. Firefox shows you only those pop-ups that you wish to see. Thus, you can block out all the unnecessary drama on your screen!