

Conclusion

Google Chrome has evolved beyond anything in recent years. The browser that comes with so many features and capabilities offers enough reason to become a user of the prolific browser. From security features to end-user satisfaction, Chrome has endless reasons to make users of other browser switch to this one. Every browser has its own feature that makes them unique but comparing it to Chrome and its comprehensive features, Google Chrome often comes out as a clear winner. Google Chrome, in the future, will come up with many patch updates with newer features to offer with every update. d