

control systems even for the operating system which are not listed in its support browser. Some of these features are niche but they essentially cover the complex business environment in spite of their diversity with system choices.

TeamViewer software offers remote access solutions that can be expanded as per the requirement even including two independent people working on any system to offer them an alternative for a physical meetings or other brainstorming sessions. This software can record audio or video files, run remote scripts, take screenshots, transfer files for folders using VPN for maximum security and so on. The latest version of the software has multi-monitor support where the users can see every monitor individually as a super desktop and make collaboration a dream. 