

- You can use the waiting room feature for ensuring that only invited people can take part in the chat.
- You can limit participation among members who have logged into the Zoom platform. You may deploy stringent constraints like allowing people who are having email addresses with a particular domain.
- Prevent new people from infringing in the meeting by enabling the lock feature when a session is already underway.

Even after following, these tips if someone acts up during a call you must remember that hosts can mute rogue callers and eliminate someone from the meeting at any time.

18. Zoom webinars

It can broadcast more than 10000 attendees. If you ever need to host an all-employees meeting, it is the perfect tool. The host can interact with a large group of people without the interruption of the audience. Zoom Webinars have a chat feature for one-to-one discussions. Also, the host is able to unmute attendees to enable discussion.

19. Save your settings for the next meeting

Zoom lets you customize your settings as a host or as a participant. The good thing is you need to configure your settings once and use it for any number of times.

20. Use participant ID to connect video or audio

If you are participating in the Zoom meeting, then do not forget to connect your Audio and Video through the participant ID. It is indeed helpful, as people can know who is talking on the call and how many people are actively involved. If you ever forget to synchronize at the beginning, then you can dial the participant ID for synchronizing Audio and Video in the course of the meeting.

Conclusion

Zoom has become a constant in our lives during this pandemic. Moreover, it is here to stay even after we return to normalcy. So, it is a good idea to get acquainted with it now. If you are new to using Zoom, it is easy to figure out. However, there are many features that can enhance your experience. Follow these tricks to use it like a pro and make the best use of this app. Feel free to share these tips with your colleagues. Go ahead and start Zoom-ing! 