

```

•
•
•             <ul class="nav navbar-nav navbarright">
•                 {% if user.is_authenticated %}
•                     <li>Logout</ li>
•                     <li><a href=""
•                         class="p-r-none">Accounts</li>
•                 {% else %}
•                     <li>Login</li>
•                     <li>Sign Up</li>
•                 {% endif %}
•             </ul>
•
•
•
•
•     </header>
•
•     {# The Document Body #}
•
•         {% block content %}
•             if you see this, something is wrong!
•         {% endblock content %}
•
•
•     {# The Footer #}
•
•
•             Copyright CRM Easy
•
•
• </body>

```

Line 19: There's an 'if' statement in the above code. The Django template system functionality `if... then... else...` can be used as follows:

```

• {% if something == true %}
•     ...do something
• {% else %}
•     ...do something else
• {% endif %}

```