

Conclusion

Word has been, and is, responsible for most of the work a person does using a text editor. In fact, everyone uses Word today, starting from a school student to a published author. Hence, Microsoft had to ensure they thought of everyone while adding those updates. And they did a great job at that! Their inclusivity is what makes the 2019 update so likeable. 