

Live Streaming: A Primer

One of the fastest growing mediums, livestreaming has a lot to offer than you'd realise.

With impressive growth and global appeal, gaming is at the forefront of entertainment. People are engaging with gaming in ways that transcend the games themselves. According to research by GlobalWebIndex, 86 per cent of internet users play games on at least one device. Additionally, 80 per cent of those who do not list gaming among their interests will habitually enjoy games on their smartphone. YouTube has over 40 million active gaming channels and over 100 billion hours of gaming content watched on the platform.