

Introduction:

It takes hard work and time to grow an audience on streaming platforms. Trolls are undesirable speed bumps in the journey of creators. They continue to plague live streaming platform, and they feed on attention. Trolls include all kinds of mocking, insults, abusing, harassing, and threatening. Miscreants tend to disrupt the live stream by posting inappropriate comments or insults. The words can not only affect the streamer but also disturb the viewers. Beware, trolls are always looking for a streamer's reaction, and if they receive it, things will only worsen. Trolls can sometimes have a significant impact on the mind of this streamer. According to Intel, 10% of the players who quit gaming said the reason was toxicity on streaming platforms.

There have been incidents of streamers being stalked offline, threatened, and people even reached out to their relatives from other social media platforms like Facebook.

Copyrights: www.pexels.com

Toxic trolls can ruin game streaming's enjoyment at both ends, the creators and the audience.

Common ways miscreants use for trolling

It is prevalent for haters to comment on your gameplay and content to provoke your impulsive reaction. It is recommended to ignore these attempts and not give them attention. Many times it can happen that the trolls mainly