- !poll: This command allows moderators to make a survey or poll in the chat, which viewers can vote on and later view the results of.
- !regulars: This is a command exclusively for the moderators to view the regulars list of the channel.
- !songs: This is a rather peculiar command, allowing the viewers to recommend songs to be played in the streams as well as the moderators to change them.
- !tags: Tags are really important for your stream to be discovered, and this command allows moderators to change and add them.
- !title: Very similar to tags, this helps moderators in changing the stream title and viewers in knowing it.
- !winner: Moderators can choose a user as a winner through this command.

In the Nightbot Control Panel, you can choose the Manage Default Commands option if you want to disable default commands. In addition to this, you are also allowed to change access to Default commands if you want to extend it to users or other levels, and to mention a Cool Down period, establishing a particular amount of time between commands on the chat.

You can also add custom commands in Nightbot. These commands are generally created if you want to display certain text or information repeatedly in your chat, for example your YouTube channel or Facebook page.
