

of the user at any location in the server, and then tap on the manage option.

The following are integral member options and the permissions you require to access and modify them.

1. Change Nickname: The Change Nickname option for members is really useful in ensuring that all members have appropriate and distinct names. This option allows you to set server-specific names for every member. To access this option, you require the Change Nickname permission.
2. Kick: Using this option, you can remove a user from membership of the server. However, such users can join the server again if they get a valid invite link. To avail of this option, you require the Kick Members permission.
3. Ban: When you ban members from your server, they can never join the server unless they are removed from the list of banned members. You can also remove a part of the users' message history and explain why provide a reason due to which the user is being banned. For access to this option, you need the Ban Members permission.
