

Copyright attribution: <https://blog.discord.com>

The announcement channel is the best place to publish this content because that's where everyone is expecting you to write.

platforms for voice and text chats. The platform offers a lot more than that, and several admins, mods, members are using the application to its full potential. It brings us to a concluding question: Are events necessary? The answer to this question is already given in the article, and you must have understood by now how important an event can be. Follow the steps and include the key ingredients to get the most out of your event.

Another thing that you should keep in mind is that frequently hosting events is also a good practice. It keeps all the members waiting for the next event, and it keeps them excited about what the next one would have in store for them. So these are some of the ways by which you can increase the movement in your community. d