Dealing with new users

Community Demographics also helps you keep track of all those users in your community or server that are new to Discord. Typically, these users tend to be unfamiliar with the concept of bots, apps, and other Discord functions inherent to the platform. Additionally, they also happen to be unaware of commonly accepted Discord etiquette and are ill-informed about the Terms of Service and the Community Guidelines that dictate the platform. In situations like these, the best course of action for businesses is to
