

Making a Netflix clone with Vue.js

Get your hands dirty with a simple project to replicate the Netflix app UI using Vue.js

In this tutorial we'll be using Vue.js along with a CSS framework to build an interface suited for a movie app such as Netflix. We will not be replicating the entirety of the features of Netflix but we will try to get a few of the pages functional, and make them talk to each other. The CSS framework being used here is Bulma but you're free to pick and choose whichever framework you'd like to start learning.

Once you are done, the final project will look like this - <https://codepen.io/itslit/full/M0vjZr>.
