

An exclusive guide on how to create a Walk Cycle

This is one of the basic things for an animator to learn, but is a surprisingly complex endeavor

Introduction

The first and foremost skill to learn for any animator is how to create a walk cycle. The walk cycle is a series of animations looped properly to create an illusion of a character walking. For example, a figure makes two steps in