

Unacademy / Udemy / Coursera

Unacademy/ Udemy/ Coursera are the three most prominent platforms for online education. These three popular brands feature almost all types of courses. Unacademy is famous for competitive exams. Udemy and Coursera are popular for skill-based courses and certification programs. These three brands cover many video courses and lessons on a wide range of topics. They currently offer the most extensive, most diverse collection of online courses in the world.

It offers a wide range of courses. These courses include Competitive Programming, Programming Languages, Management Skills, and Personal Development. Unacademy/ Coursera/ Udemy educators are professionals and present every study material. Each course has a detailed description on their apps. These apps include an info box with the duration of the course, and they also provide certification to users. In addition, they welcome instructors and professors who want to take courses. Teachers who have excellent resources can teach and prepare courses for students.

App/Site link: unacademy.com/ / www.udemy.com/ / www.coursera.org/in