

Feeds

If you like to stay aware of the current happenings around the world, Feeds is for you. It is a one-stop for all news, posts, and podcasts from various reliable sites. You can read your daily news on the web mode directly. This app solely works if you have an RSS client installed. The design and software both are well-made without any bugs. You can also import and easily export your favourites.

It has very useful features like the “unread only,” “mark all as read,” and then save feature that allows readers to read articles without internet access. So, you can quickly save your picks while you're at home with a Wi-Fi connection and then read them when you're travelling or out. The 'baked-in' reader mode enables you to read your documents thoroughly. There have also been some improvisations like fixed view buttons, redirection to YouTube links, and better storage to avoid loss of any data.
