

Magnet

Magnet is a productivity tool that allows you to arrange active windows on your Mac by “snapping” them into tiles. Dragging a window to the side of the screen causes it to be enlarged to take up half of the screen while dragging a window into a screen corner causes it to be “snapped” into quarters. Magnet includes many more methods to arrange windows, a menu bar icon, and keyboard shortcuts to make multitasking considerably more effective. It adds some of that window management behaviour to MacOS. It also provides additional automatic choices for organizing your screen and personalizing your Mac. Magnet also offers keyboard shortcuts for all of its commands. There is a small item in the menu bar where you may discover preset hotkeys or build your own. Magnet has been one of the top-selling productivity Mac apps and is available for $2 from the Mac App Store.
