

Feedly

Feedly is a mobile application available for both Android and iOS platforms. It is a news aggregator application that combines the news feed from different sources, customizes it, and makes it available to its users. It was first released in 2008 and is available as a cloud service too. One can use Feedly as an aggregate platform that allows users to stay updated on any topic, such as news, social media posts, blogs, RSS feeds, digital publications, spanning websites, and YouTube channels. Feedly avails all this information coming from different sources through a single platform.

It is a smart news reader app integrated with several social media platforms, including Twitter, Pinterest, Linked In, and Buffer. It can be linked to Google alerts that issues the notifications and alerts for the content containing the keywords of users' interest. The content on Feedly can easily get shared with friends, family, and colleagues that allows users to add comments, highlight, or pinpoint the articles.

App/Site Link: <https://feedly.com/>