

AirDroid

Many people consider sharing an easy task when they have an android mobile. But with the enhanced security and a closed environment of iOS, it becomes slightly complicated for iPhone, iPad, or Mac users. However, with the AirDroid application, controlling and sharing the screen has become easier and smoother. This application is equipped with an extensive number of tools, making it easier to take direct control of smaller devices on larger screens.

All you need to do for casting your screen is download the application on either device and scan the QR with your iPhone or iPad. This effective and efficient application works wonders when it comes to transferring files from one device to another, even if they don't have the same operating systems. With AirDroid, you can transfer any type of file from one destination to the other with just one click. This powerful application supports the casting of up to 5 screens at once.

App/site link: <https://web.airdroid.com/>