

Parsec

Parsec is a desktop software for proprietors that primarily allows you to play games using video streaming. By sharing your system's display through the cloud, you can easily choose to stream video games, run games on a separate entity, or a particular game can also be played using some other device. Though it's mainly gaming software, it is often used as a desktop sharing application having low latency.

One of the significant perks of Parsec is there's no need to own a copy of the game as the host is the only one who needs the game, and all others can comfortably stream his PC. Along with its free version, Parsec also offers a paid version called "Parsec for Teams" that encompasses additional features such as better colour accuracy and additional administrative tools for developers and artists.
