

confusing as it will show you how the stretch factor influences this bar.

TIP 1: If the duration of the video stretches beyond the duration of the Composition, then you'll have to change the duration of the composition. You can do this by clicking Composition → Composition Settings → Duration → Set time.

This is especially handy when you want to slow videos down and extend the duration of some animations.

*TIP 2: If the video is not encompassed by the active window in the timeline panel, then double clicking the active time bar (bar at the top of the timeline window, just above the RAM preview bar), will stretch the active window to fit the duration of the video. d
